

one emulator is trained per architecture; the loss compares its output to the STARDUST profiles (plus a physics term for PINO)